I'm gonna compare Ralph and Percy Jackson both the main characters in both books

So let me start with Percy Jackson

Percy Jackson was born on August 18, the Greek goddess of the seas, and Sally Jackson, a mortal who could see through the mist. He was raised by his single mother, Sally Jackson. Percy is named after the famous Greek hero by his mother for good luck because his name was one of the only heroes who had a happy ending and died a peaceful death. Sally's parents died in a plane accident when she was five. When Percy Jackson got older he maintained to get stronger. Percy Jackson although got kicked out of six schools. The reason why is because he caused lots of trouble in those different schools. Percy Jackson would always come to lots of tragic things like monsters trying to attack him too.

Ralph Lord of The Flies

Ralph is athletic and he is elected leader towards the beginning of the book. Ralph is the primary representative of order. While most of the other boys initially are concerned with playing, having fun, and avoiding work, Ralph sets about building huts and thinking of ways to maximize their chances of being rescued. For this reason, Ralph's power and influence over the other boys are secure at the beginning of the story. However, as the group gradually succumbs to savage instincts over the course of the book, Ralph's position declines while Jack's rises. Eventually, most of the boys except Piggy leave Ralph's group for Jack's, and Ralph is left alone to be hunted by Jack's tribe. And his main wish is to be rescued and returned to the society of adults. In a sense, this strength gives Ralph a moral victory at the end of the novel,

How these characters compare

I feel like both these characters are brave because you have Percy Jackson not scared of fighting monsters. And you have Ralph from lord of the flies who is a leader and is pretty brave as well. I think bravery is somewhat both these characters have. Also the fact that Percy Jackson got kicked out of six different schools and kept going and that can take bravery too. And Ralph leading the island takes bravery using the conch all these things can take bravery.
